

Project Manager Artificial Intelligence

Contract.fit is an ambitious technology company that offers an intelligent automation solution. We help our clients provide a better customer experience and reduce workloads by automating data entry and carrying out cognitive tasks.

We are looking for a Project Manager/Business Analyst to join our team. You will play an instrumental role in bridging the gap between our technical team and the clients. You like the intellectual challenge of understanding complex business processes and how to improve these with a cutting-edge product.

What will you do?

- You understand the clients' use case: what are the challenges to solve and where is the value coming from.
- You define how the needs of the client translate into how we will deploy our product.
- You conduct first-level analysis on client training data
- You ensure predictability and consistency in delivery and manage expectations on timelines and performance.
- You work extensively with business, technical and other stakeholders.
- You prepare and manage frequent follow-up meetings
- You assist in prioritizing bugs vs feature requests
- You ensure quality assurance on the user stories before delivery to the client.

Who are you?

- You're an excellent communicator (preferably in EN, NL and FR)
- You're empathic and able to work with a broad range of stakeholders
- You have experience or are profoundly interested in Artificial Intelligence/Machine Learning
- You're driven by intellectual challenges and defining simple solutions for complex problems
- You have experience with working at a banking, insurance or other service organization
- You're great in prioritizing tasks and time-management.

What do we offer you?

- An ideal opportunity that combines technical and business challenges in the exciting world of AI
- An attractive salary and bonus scheme
- A company car or public transport subscription
- Team building activities, free coffee, after work drinks, etc.
